THE ACCUSATION REVIEW · 2026 SUMMARY

What 35 Aesthetic Board Accusations Teach Us

I read 35 California licensing Board accusations against nurses, NPs, PAs and physicians in aesthetics. Only 7 involved documented patient harm. Most were decided on paperwork that existed, or didn't, long before anyone asked for it.

24 of 35
cited missing or insufficient standardized procedures / P&Ps

28 of 35
involved no documented patient harm

~3 yrs
typical gap between the conduct and the accusation

$10,000
median cost recovery owed to the Board (21 cases with an amount)

$74,297
highest single cost recovery

Up to 5 yrs
to reach an accusation; 19 of 33 cases took 3 years or longer

WHAT THE BOARD LOOKS FOR

The same gaps, again and again

How often each problem appeared across the 35 accusations. One case can appear in several rows.

Paperwork decided most cases.	28 of 35 accusations involved no documented harm. They were built on missing standardized procedures, absent physician oversight and skipped good faith exams.
Generic policies failed.	One nurse submitted a national association's policy set; the Board found it did not meet standardized-procedure criteria. Another practice updated its P&Ps mid-investigation and still fell short.
Owners and supervisors were charged too.	Physicians and PAs faced accusations for unlicensed staff injecting or lasering, lapsed fictitious name permits and medical directors who were never really there.

CASE IN BRIEF · DERMAL FILLER · RN

"The Board asked for her policies. There were none to send."

WHAT HAPPENED	A patient complained about dermal filler she said she did not want. The Board requested the nurse's policies and procedures.
WHAT THE BOARD FOUND	None could be provided. The accusation charged incompetence.
OUTCOME	Pending final decision

THE DOCUMENT THAT WOULD HAVE HELPED

Standardized procedures for dermal filler, a complaint-response protocol and a signed, treatment-specific informed consent.

SELF-CHECK

Could you answer the Board today?

01	Written standardized procedures exist for every treatment we offer, meet our state's criteria and are signed by the medical director.
02	Our P&Ps were written for our state and scope, not adapted from a generic or association template.
03	Every patient has a documented good faith exam by a physician, NP or PA before treatment.
04	Our medical director agreement defines supervision duties, and chart reviews are logged.
05	Every chart has history, treatment-specific consent, product, dose and lot number.
06	No task is delegated to anyone without the license to perform it.
07	Our corporate structure and fictitious name permit meet our state's rules.
08	If the Board requested our P&Ps today, we could send them within 24 hours.

About this review: drawn from 35 publicly filed California licensing Board accusations, anonymized and simplified. Counts reflect whether an issue appears anywhere in a case's description or citations. Cost recovery is the amount stated in each accusation and excludes attorney fees, probation monitoring and lost income. Each case turns on its own facts.
